

I respectively urge the FCC to continue regulating broadband service by denying BellSouth's petition at the FCC to do so. The public interest in this case far outweighs any possible inconvenience to BellSouth and others in complying with FCC oversight.